

TRACY
Mitrano
FOR CONGRESS

Dear [REDACTED],

I wanted to drop you a quick letter about my June 26, 2018 Congressional Primary Campaign to become the NY-23 Democratic Nominee - towards a toe-to-toe showdown with Tom Reed.

I've spent my entire life in Western and Southern Tier New York. I was raised in Rochester where I grew up helping my parents run their downtown restaurant. It was in our region where I learned first-hand about the importance of community and hard work. I'm the proud mother of two adult sons and I live in Penn Yan.

A lifelong Democrat, educator, lawyer, and nationally-renowned cybersecurity expert, I'm ready to bring economic opportunity and long-term security for our seniors, working and middle-class families, veterans and the future of our children and grandchildren. Incumbent Tom Reed has sold us out, putting wealthy donors and special interests first. Enough is enough. It's time to put the people of NY-23 first again.

It's time to end gridlock in Washington, DC. It's time to bring economic opportunity to NY-23 by fighting for: affordable, accessible healthcare for everyone, including our veterans and seniors who depend on Social Security and Medicare; affordable education with reduced college debt; expanded technological infrastructure including high speed internet and cell phone coverage; an environment with clean air, water and land; and the dignity of every single person, healing the political and geographical divide that separates us from our neighbors. It's time to make NY-23's rural communities, towns and cities a great place to live, work and raise our families.

We've received numerous important endorsements including the Working Families Party and the Women's Equality Party. We've won all four of NY-23's 2018 Democratic straw polls by sizable margins - illustrating broad support across NY-23's 11 counties.

Ready to Put People First Again,
